O QUE CONTA UMA RECEITA?

An aerial photograph of a terraced landscape, possibly a hillside or a large garden. The terrain is divided into numerous terraces by dark, possibly stone or concrete, retaining walls. The terraces are covered with a mix of green vegetation, including small trees and shrubs, and patches of brown, bare soil. The overall scene suggests a well-maintained but perhaps somewhat dry or recently cleared area. In the bottom right corner, there is a cluster of bright yellow flowers, possibly a type of shrub or tree. The text "O QUE QUEREMOS PARA A GASTRONOMIA?" is overlaid on the bottom left of the image in a white, bold, sans-serif font.
